

Make a fresh start with igeek

Learn how your organisation can utilise technology and the web to make business easier and more profitable

Now there's a company who can take care of all your web and business application needs. A company that will let you realise real returns on your web and business system investments.

igeek can help your organization develop systems that will revolutionise the way you do business: bespoke database and web development with a guaranteed return on investment.

"Igeek were a pleasure to work with. They use a canny combination of expertise and intuition to deliver both what we wanted and what we needed to serve our business needs."

And we specialise in in-house systems that are available 24/7 on the web too, allowing you to work via your iPad, smartphone, laptop or desktop.

Here at igeek we enjoy providing business applications that allow your organization to work more efficiently, quicker, more easily and with greater profit.

"igeek have been very helpful in creating a tailor made system for our business."

Our systems enable you to concentrate more fully on running your business, letting technology take care of the day-to-day mundane tasks that, at the moment, seem to take up all your time.

And because we're specialists in combining business applications with the web, you and your staff are free to work from wherever you like – on the road, at home, on the shop floor or in the office.

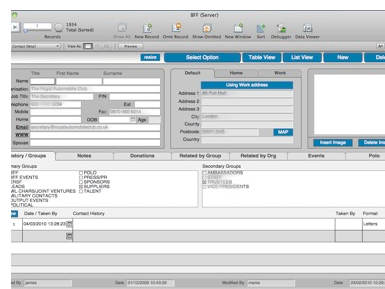

"We approached igeek to design a complicated database for our production, requiring a tight turn around on delivery. We required the system to manage many aspects of natural history filmmaking which igeek grasped immediately. We have since asked igeek to integrate our budgeting system on the database which they have delivered yet again in record time. It has been a pleasure working with igeek, virtually all of our requests have been met and the ongoing support is invaluable."

Whether it's developing from scratch, or working with existing systems, we can help your organization refine its procedures to cut costs, lower overheads and promote more efficient working patterns.

Contact us today about bespoke web and FileMaker Pro development and you can take the first step in obtaining a solution that will change the way you do business forever.

Plus, with FileMaker Go on iPad and iPhone, you are able to work remotely on your full business application. As specialist developers we can make sure you're always able to connect.

"Excellent company to work with, responsive to every need, able to meet every requirement, patient, polite and very customer centric. igeek's development work with Filemaker has created a database that has greatly improved the efficiency with which we deliver client projects."
